Multipurpose Room, Student Community Center
Davis Campus

You may think that successful people know exactly what they want to do in their professional lives and how to get there, but that may be more myth than reality. A career is a journey, where despite carefully crafted plans, serendipity and surprises may reign. In this workshop you will hear from a UC Davis panel of retired employees who have traveled interesting professional paths. Discover what they did to advance their careers, what role mentors played, and how they prepared for a rewarding “next chapter” called retirement. As their stories are shared, you may find words of wisdom and opportunities for your own career journey.
